About California ReLeaf

California ReLeaf was founded in 1989 and incorporated as a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization in 2004. Our mission is to empower grassroots efforts and build strategic partnerships that preserve, protect, and enhance California's urban and community forests. California ReLeaf works statewide to promote alliances among community-based groups, individuals, industry, and government agencies, encouraging each to contribute to the livability of our cities and the protection of our environment by planting and caring for trees. California ReLeaf also serves as the state's volunteer coordinator for urban forestry for the California Department of Forestry and Fire Protection.

Our programs and services include:

- Coordinating the California ReLeaf Network, an alliance of urban forestry groups throughout the state.
- Administering grant programs on behalf of the State of California.
- Publishing California Trees, a newsletter that explores current issues in urban forestry.
- Providing assistance, information, and referrals to individuals, organizations, and agencies working to improve the management of urban forests in California communities.
- Monitoring state and federal legislation and keeping the urban forestry community informed of opportunities to influence public policy on behalf of urban trees.

About the California ReLeaf Network

The Network was formed by California ReLeaf in 1991 as a state-wide forum for exchange, education, and mutual support for community-based organizations that share the common goals of planting and protecting trees, fostering an ethic of environmental stewardship, and promoting volunteer involvement.

Almost 100-members strong, the Network enables individual groups to use their collective power to improve the urban forest in their own communities. Through membership in the Network, groups build their organizational and technical skills; share their enthusiasm, experiences, and ideas; address issues of common concern; and work together to advance urban forestry throughout the state.

Network members vary from small groups of dedicated individuals, working after hours to improve their communities, to well-established nonprofit organizations with paid staff. Activities range from planting and caring for urban trees to restoring native oak habitat and riparian areas; from advocating better tree pruning practices and helping cities develop progressive tree policies to raising public awareness of the benefits of healthy urban forests.

For more information or to receive an application for membership in the California ReLeaf Network, please contact the Network Coordinator (see page 2) or visit us online at www.californiareleaf.org.

Membership Criteria

The major requirements that a group must meet are:

- Have as one of its principal goals the planting, care, and/or protection of trees in the community and be committed to long-term environmental stewardship.
- Recruit and involve the public in its urban forestry efforts.
- Have a mission statement and an action plan outlining its goals and activities.
- Be in existence at least six months prior to applying for California ReLeaf Network membership and have completed at least one community project.
- Have a phone number and mailing address that can be made available to the public.

Membership Benefits

- Members are invited to participate in an annual meeting of the entire Network, with a portion of travel and lodging expenses reimbursed by California ReLeaf.
- From time to time, California ReLeaf receives funds that are passed on through special programs exclusively for Network members. Members may also apply for funds under any of the State grant programs California ReLeaf administers.
- Members receive mailings that include timely news on funding opportunities and educational events, and communiqués from individual Network members addressed to the entire Network.
- Members are kept apprised of pending legislation related to urban forestry and, through their network affiliation, have an influence in state and national legislation.
- Members receive copies of California Trees, California ReLeaf's newsletter, mailed directly to designated individuals on their board, staff, or membership list.
- Members may use the California ReLeaf Network Member logo on printed materials and press releases.

Membership Responsibilities

- Members are expected to add California ReLeaf to their mailing list to receive publications, event announcements, and press releases.
- Members are also requested to keep California ReLeaf apprised of changes to their mailing address, phone number, and, if applicable, email and website addresses.
- Members are to respond in a timely manner to requests for information from California ReLeaf.
- Members are requested to operate in a spirit of cooperation with other Network members, offering advice and assistance to the extent possible.
- Members are required to submit a brief annual summary of their activities and accomplishments.
